

SOLIDUS SECURITIES
BOOSTED BY THE CONFIDENCE OF GREEK INVESTORS

Solidus is one of the largest, in market share, private company in the Athens Stock Market. It was founded in 1999 and offers a broad spectrum of services such as, transactions in Greek and foreign derivatives, Greek and international stock markets, bonds, commodities, portfolio management, corporate finance, IPO mutual funds and credit offering (solidus margin).

The company's primary goal is to cover the needs and serve the interests of the active private investor. The products of the company's analysis department are designed to support this philosophy. Solidus also has a large number of representatives, offices and associates.

The company offers to its customers and associates online trading platforms, both for the Greek and international stocks and derivatives markets.

Security is one of Solidus' major priorities and our company applies a strict policy for risk management. During the entire time span of operations its capital adequacy index, which is calculated and reported to the capital market commission on a monthly basis, has been remained at high levels.

In 2006 Solidus acquired Value Capital Securities and in April 2009 merged with Artion Securities, thus creating one of the largest non banking institution in the field of investment services with more than 50,000 customers.
